Revolving Fund Practice Will Challenge Efforts of Budget Director.

EFFICIENCY IS LACKING

Incompetent and Careless Bookkeeping Responsible for Large Losses.

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

By United Press Leased Wire

Washington — General Dawes has taken charge of the budget job He will try to establish a definite relationship between the income and outgo of government funds. He has asked the government employes to meet him in massmeeting. That's only a small part of the drive for economy. The real trouble is something with which the average government employe has little to do—namely the method by which congress appropriates money and fails to keep track of appropriations spent

The biggest abuse in government expenditure today is the so-called "revolving fund" It grew up during the war but is the same in principle as the practice of congress in past years of authorizing specific appropriations to be reimbursed by moneys received from sales of government property and supplies

This automatic increase of funds available to government departments without the necessity of reporting to congress has been severely criticized by the students of government economy Both secretaries Glass and Houston of the treasury department attacked it and President Wilson gave special attention to the subject in his last message to congress recommending that congress discontinue the practice

The revolving fund was necessary during the war when it was desirable to grant wide discretion but since then it has developed into a convenient device for the spending of money not specifically ordered by congress.

How It Works

It works out this way:

Supposing congress has appropriated $100,000,000 for running expenses to the war department The same act of congress gives to the war department the right to use such receipts of money as may come to it through the sale of property or supplies. Consequently the $100 000,000 fund is automatically kept intact but what actually has happened is that congress has indirectly given the war department the right to spend $500,000,000 if by chance the receipts from the sale of government property or unused supplies should amount to that much What may be true of the war department is true of other departments of the government

The usual thought of the average man about government economy is to reduce personnel. He imagines that the government has too many employes and that the bulk of money is paid out in salaries. That isn't the fact. Much of the waste is due to bad accounting and the vague and indefinite powers of administrative officers who can buy or sell government property. Secretary Glass in his last annual report suggested that congress meet the needs of government agencies hereafter "by definite appropriations with the requirement that all receipts accruing to the United States from whatever source shall be covered into the treasury for the general purposes of the government."

Problems like these will engage the mind of General Dawes when he gets deep into his job far more than the salaries of government clerks Millions of dollars are spent annually for river and harbor work and construction projects in which constant adjustment must be made between money authorized in one fiscal year but for one reason or another is unexpended and sums authorized the next year for the same general object without taking into account a surplus that may have been available from previous years. Government economy is as much a matter of good bookkeeping as watchfulness by congress of expenditures. There is very little dishonesty in the whole business as the records of the government detective agencies will show but the money spent as a result of carelessness and inefficiency is astonishingly large General Dawes may not be popular with the rank and file of government officials when he gets through but he has blanket authority from President Harding to go ahead and the executive will support him unflinchingly.

BLAINE PUTS VETO ON PRIVATE DETECTIVE BILL

By United Press Leased Wire

Madison—The private detective license bill loosening restrictions on the securing of licenses for home made sleuths was vetoed Thursday by Governor John J. Blaine.

"Experience has shown that private detective agencies need the most rigid enforcement and control," the governor's message of disapproval said

The bill permitted any detective agency to obtain a license if indorsed by "five reputable citizens"

Existing laws put the matter of granting private detective licenses in the hands of local chief of police and the fire and police commission

Leo Myers of New York and Providence, R I., has agreed on the black's behalf and Johnson has accepted Myers' offer, it was stated.

Stillman Will Talk If He Is Guaranteed Protection

By United Press Leased Wire

Poughkeepsie, N. Y.—James A Stillman would be prosecuted if his answers to questions in his divorce action indicate he has committed any crime, John E Mack guardian for baby Guy Stillman, declared Thursday.

Mack refused to grant immunity from prosecution to Stillman when counsel for the banker offered to permit him to answer some of the hundreds of questions fired at him, if such immunity were granted

Apparently exasperated at efforts of the defense to obtain something definite from the former president of the City National bank which would bring out just what crime he was afraid of being implicated in, Cornelius Sullivan, attorney for Stillman jumped to his feet and declared

"This is all foolishness. This examination is taking the referee's time, our time and your time I have told my witness for two days to answer as he has I understand Mr Mack intends to institute federal proceedings against Mr Stillman if he can If Mr Mack will say that that is not his plan I will instruct Mr Stillman to answer some of these questions"

Mack declared he would make no promises of any kind

"I certainly do intend if the evidence warrants it to institute criminal proceedings against Mr. Stillman," he said

The banker used the front door Thursday in entering the building where the hearings are being conducted by Referee Gleason He was accompanied by his attorney, Cornelius J. Sullivan

Stillman walked boldly up to the entrance, looking neither to the right nor left and maintaining silence Sullivan, however, turned on a group of reporters with "why in hell don't you print the facts once in awhile."

NEW DRY LAW GETS BLAINE'S APPROVAL

By United Press Leased Wire

Madison — Governor John J Blaine Thursday signed the prohibition enforcement bill drawn up by the legislative conference committee It will go into effect Friday, the first day of the fiscal year 1921 22

The governor claims a victory for his contentions throughout the legislature in the following statement

"The enforcement measure sustains my position, as set forth in my veto message on the Matheson bill.

"The present bill does two things. First, it protects the home against invasion and the spying on family life by public officials and intermeddling neighbors; second, it is an effective measure, affording the district attorneys, sheriffs, local officers and the state enforcement officer simplified machinery in suppressing the evil of poisonous liquor, popularly known as 'moonshine,' and the illicit traffic in liquor."

The possession of liquor by any person without a permit, other than in his private dwelling used exclusively as such, shall be prima facie evidence of unlawfulness, according to the new law.

TAFT APPOINTMENT NOW IS CERTAINTY

Washington.—William Howard Taft has been chosen for chief justice of the United States supreme court.

Final decision to name him was reached Thursday, it was learned on highest authority.

Taft is willing to take the post, his friends say, and President Harding is known to have been made aware of his attitude.

This leaves nothing in the way of the formal announcement of the Taft appointment and it may be made Thursday.

The last step in the decision to name Taft was for Attorney General Daugherty to formally recommend him to the president. This has been done, it is understood, and the recommendation is at the White House.

After his appointment, Taft is expected immediately to begin to familiarize himself with the cases before the court.

He will also have to appoint a new chief clerk to replace the late James Maher who died shortly after the late Chief Justice White.

Mrs. B W. Wells returned Wednesday evening from Milwaukee where she attended the sessions of the National Conference of Social work the last ten days.

FOREIGNERS FLEE WHEN CHINESE TROOPS REBEL

By United Press Leased Wire.

Hankow, China—The foreign population of Hankow was fleeing for safety Thursday, fearing impending mutinies of Chinese troops.

One thousand Japanese troops were reported planning to remain in the city. Other foreign concessions, however, were being evacuated.

Taking advantage of the situation created by the presence of two governments in China, various provincial governors are reported putting armies in the field for the purpose of looting.

Reports here indicated thousands were killed in mutinies recently.

One report described how mutineers were alleged to have turned machine guns on a train carrying refugees. Fifteen hundred of the refugees were said to have been killed.

THOUSANDS OF SHOPPERS FIND HUGE BARGAINS

Stores Filled With People Taking Advantage of "Dollar Day" Sales.

COME FROM MILES AROUND

City Is Filled With Hundreds of Persons From Surrounding Country.

Favored by splendid weather and good roads, Appleton merchants are doing a tremendous business on their first real "Dollar Day" Attracted by columns of publicity, thousands of persons flocked to Dollar Day stores where almost unheard of bargains awaited them. Crowds grew as the morning progressed and shortly before lunch hour the downtown streets resembled circus day. The crowds during the early afternoon hours were cut down somewhat, presumably on account of the extreme heat. Automobiles were parked in solid rows on both sides of College-ave. for more than a mile and every inch of available parking space in dozens of side streets was taken.

Not less than 4,000 person from out of the city were in Appleton to take advantage of the bargains when a cursory count was made at noon. At least 10,000 persons are expected to visit the stores before the close of business this evening. This probably will set a new record for business in Appleton.

Three stores had served more than 1,000 customers before 9 o'clock this morning One store reported receipts at the rate of $20 a minute within less than an hour after the doors were opened and sales were increasing at a prodigious rate.

Forty-six merchants are official participants in the sale. Several storekeepers who did not take part in the advertising campaign are capitalizing on the publicity by holding "dollar day" sales of their own and one shoe merchant went so far as to make a fair imitation of the official dollar day signs and place them in his windows in order to attract bargain seekers. Printed yellow signs are the official markers for dollar day stores all other signs are unofficial and indicate the owners of the establishments did not take part in the publicity campaign which brought the thousands of people into Appleton

Dollar day sales have been held in many cities for many years and have proven immensely profitable to purchasers Their success is predicated on bargains and if they are to be successful the purchaser must get bargains The immense crowds which flocked into the city's business districts this morning indicated the reading public had found many bargains in the advertisements

WANT U. S. TO TAKE DISARMAMENT LEAD

Japan and England Agree That America Should Lead Naval Holiday Program.

By United Press Leased Wire

Washington—Great Britain and Japan will leave to the United States the first step toward disarmament, according to a statement in authoritative diplomatic circles here Thursday The attitude of the first and third naval powers of the world is understood to have been made plain to this government in the responses to the diplomatic feelers President Harding put forth.

Friends of disarmament were cheered Thursday as the result of the two important developments during the 24 hours on the disarmament question.

These were the adoption by the house Wednesday of the Borah resolution for a disarmament conference between the United States, Great Britain and Japan to be called by the president and Harding's letter to House Leader Mondell showing that the executive is favorably inclined toward disarmament.

Favor Disarmament

Tokio—The Japanese league of nations society Thursday announced it had adopted resolutions favoring the accomplishments of disarmament through an Anglo-Japanese-American entente.

The resolution also declared that the society considered that the Yap mandate did not require any alteration.

NO DEFENSE OFFERED IN TRIAL OF LABOR LEADER

By United Press Leased Wire

Columbus, Kans.—The defense in the trial of Alexander Howat and August Dorchy, mine union leaders, charged with violating a felony section of the Kansas industrial court law, rested its case Thursday without introduction of testimony shortly after the state finished with its testimony.

Defense attorneys asked for peremptory instructions for a verdict of not guilty, claiming evidence offered by the state did not show that a public offense was committed in ordering of the "local" Mackie mine strike over a wage controversy.

Harding Signs Army Bill But Protests Cutting Personnel

President Warns Congress He Will Ask for Modification of New Law.

UNFAIR TO ENLISTED MEN

Fear War Department Will Be Handicapped in Securing Recruits.

By United Press Leased Wire.

Washington — President Harding sent a message to congress Thrsday strongly dissenting from the provisions in the army appropriation bill which require the army to be reduced to 150.000 men by October 1.

The president announced his approval of the bill but warned congress that he does not feel justified in asking the secretary of war to enforce dismissal of men prior to expiration of enlistment as would be necessary if the provisions of the measure are carried into effect. The president said this provision will cause "very great embarrassment" to the army and will be demoralizing to the spirit of the army itself, probably causing serious difficulty in securing enlistments in the future.

The restriction was vigorously opposed by Secretary of War Weeks, who declared it a violation of contract.

President Harding advised congress that he probably would ask additional legislation to remove the restrictions and said that while the secretary of war will seek to avoid creating any deficit prohibited by the bill, every effort will be made to deal justly with enlisted men.

Outspoken Message.

The message was a very outspoken document, and is the first serious disagreement between Harding and leaders in congress. Harding's message follows:

"I am advising the congress of my approval of H. R. 5010, a bill making provision for the maintenance and support of the United States army for the year ending June 30, 1922.

"I cannot resist calling the attention of the congress at this time to the very great embarrassment in carrying out its provisions while dealing unjustly with the enlisted forces of the army so that a later call for a slight modification may not be wholly without notice.

"The bill necessitates a very large reduction in the enlisted personnel of the army and it is doubted that this reduction can be brought about without the summary dismissal of many thousands of men who have a right to expect at the hands of the government the same moral obligations which the government requires of them when they enlist for service. In perfect good faith the secretary of war will proceed to reduce the army to the figure contemplated by the congress. The normal expiration of enlistments directed will approximate one-half the reduction which the congress has directed and every effort will be made to meet the requirements of the congress at the earliest possible day.

"I would not feel justified in asking the secretary of war to enforce the dismissal of men who have enlisted for a definite term of service.

Moral Obligation

"There seems to be a moral obligation involved, the violation of which would be demoralizing to the spirit of the army itself and might prove a very serious discouragement when enlistments are desired in the future. I have thought I ought to say these things to the congress now because in its earnest desire to reduce the army personnel and limit army expenditures, the congress has especially provided that no deficit shall be created. The secretary of war will seek to avoid the creation of any deficit but if a probable deficit develops in a just procedure to reduce our enlisted forces, I will report to the congress at the earliest possible day and ask it to relieve the embarrassment of the secretary of war and make such provision as will be necessary to deal with our enlisted men while attempting to keep faith with the congress to the fullest degree."

UNION HEADS HAVE HARD TIME HOLDING EMPLOYES IN LINE

Railroad Brotherhood Chiefs Meet in Chicago to Discuss Wage Cuts.

By United Press Leased Wire

Chicago — Rail union leaders from all over the nation were pouring into Chicago on the eve of the 12 per cent wage cut of 2 000.000 rail employes, effective Friday

The leaders will then give their answer to the action of the United States rail labor board in slashing $400,000,000 from the annual payroll of the workers.

The big problem confronting the union leaders is how to hold the men in line and prevent a tieup of the nation's transportation facilities.

B. M Jewell president of the railway department of the American Federation of Laor, has guarded against a strike stampede. it developed Thursday

Jewell in a letter sent out to the members of his organization cautioned the men against "walking out" without authority He said any member so doing "might as well tear up his union card"

Returns from a vote in Jewell's union showed the majority of the membership is in favor of rejecting the wage cut.

The constitution of the organization of the four big railroad brotherhoods which are not affiliated with the American Federatin of Labor, provides that the heads of the unions vote first whether to accept or reject the cut. In case of rejection there will be a referendum.

After brief conferences of the leaders of individual unions Friday, all rail union heads will get together to present a solid front if possible, in settling their difficulties

KENOSHA MEN ARE INDICTED FOR PART IN WHISKY "RING"

Attorney and Banker Are Among Those Sought by Federal Officials.

By United Press Leased Wire

Kenosha, Wis.—Three men were arrested here Thursday by federal officers as members of an alleged "whisky ring."

The men are Herman Gordon, Joel Jacobson and Peter Dallos

Federal authorities are searching for three other residents of Kenosha against whom indictments were recently returned by the federal grand jury.

Walter M Burke prominent attorney announced Thursday he had been informed he was indicted in connection with the alleged activities of the "whisky ring" and was prepared to give himself up He left for Milwaukee before federal officers armed with warrants, arrived in Kenosha.

The three men are alleged to be involved along with Edward Kosterman former Kenosha banker, Charles Eller and Louis Schrayer wholesale liquor dealers.

Government officials are reluctant to give out the nature of the evidence in the case but it is understood to involve more than a carload of whisky brought to Truesdale near Kenosha, and from there distributed to various Wisconsin points

The liquor was shipped from Kentucky

Jacobson and Gordon were recently indicted in connection with the alleged theft of $30 000 worth of liquor from the warehouse of the Bodger Non-Beverage Supply company.

The arrests followed a probe of the "whisky ring" through which, government officials said, $500 000 worth of liquor has been brought into the state.

DEMOCRATS TRAIN BIG GUNS ON NEW TARIFF SCHEDULE

Changes May Be Necessary After Six Weeks Work by House Committee.

By United Press Leased Wire

Washington — The new tariff bill came under fire Thursday before it was 24 hours old.

Despite the fact that six weeks of committee work already have been spent on it, revamping of some of the schedules was threatened.

The bill goes to a Republican caucus Thursday night and action is expected on the lumber, steel and wool schedules.

When the bill goes before the house Democratic leaders are planning to make a strong fight on it. Representative Garner, Texas, one of the Democratic leaders, said the schedule in the present bill is higher than in the Payne-Aldrich bill of 1909 He cited the wool schedule, comparing it with 1909.

The greatest increase in the new bill appears to be the steel schedule. In some ferro alloys the increase in duties over the Payne-Aldrich bill is more than 200 per cent.

Other large increases are on clocks, watches and toys

News print and wood pulp were left on the free list as were hides, leathers and shoes in the main. The committee decided not to let the tariff interfere with religion and placed Bibles on the free list The crude and fuel oils were taken from the free list and made dutiable at the rate of 35 and 25 cents a barrel respectively.

On agricultural products, the rates have been reduced from those appearing in the emergency tariff. Wheat, for instance, has been cut from 35 to 25 cents a bushel. Sugar is higher than in 1909, the rate on table grade being approximately 2 cents a pound. At present it is 1.26 while under the Payne-Aldrich law it was 1.90. Rates on pottery and earthenware are considerably higher than in 1909 and the free list is smaller.

STILL HOPEFUL FOR PEACE IN IRELAND

Believe DeValera and Sir James Craig Will Be Able to Get Together.

London—Ireland's future is expected to be determined in a series of secret meetings which may show the way out of the present blood impasse

For the time being the British government is out of the argument. The two Irish factions are concerned with the question of whether one man shall speak for all Ireland or whether Sinn Fein will concede Ulster the right to its own spokesman if peace conversations with the government are undertaken.

De Valera roused a storm of criticism by writing the Ulster premier Sir James Craig, practically demanding a preliminary meeting in Dublin.

Sir Jame's reply denying such a meeting, was anticipated.

There was some disquiet, many officials believing that the Irish question was far from settled. Others knowing of the secret confernce which led up to Lloyd George's open invitation, believed the remaining difficulties would be swept away in private and the way cleared for a peace gathering with both Ulster and Ireland represented.

FIND GIRL RESPONSIBLE FOR MINISTER'S BEATING

Kokomo, Ind. — Tongues wagged over back fences Thursday in Kokomo's latest scandal.

A young girl's story involving a minister, prominent socially, was the subject.

The minister, the Rev Felix Goldman, was recovering from wounds received when two men brutally attacked him about 1 o'clock Wednesday morning. In searching for his assailants, police discovered Miss Lena Grant, a pretty 18-year old factory girl, had been with the minister when he was attacked

"I walked and prayed with the Rev. Mr. Goldman," she said.

Questioned further, she admitted the pastor, a man of 46 years and the head of a large family, had hugged and kissed her and had asked her to accompany him to Logansport for two or three days.

The pastor declared he met the girl by accident while making sick calls The official board of the church refused to believe his story, however, and asked his resignation.

John and Dorothy Ehlke, 952 Spring st., left Thursday morning for Oshkosh where they will visit their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Luedeke.

ADVANTAGES OF CITY CITED IN SMITH'S ADDRESS

Second Ward Residents Told Why Appleton Should Have City Plan.

Some of the city's most striking advantages and claims for superiority were named by Leonard Smith, city planner as a preface to his address in Columbus school Wednesday evening dealing with suggestions for the safeguarding and promotion of the future Appleton About 50 residents of the Second ward were present and many took part in the open discussion that followed

Here are the advantages as he gave them:

Nature has given Appleton a remarkable site on the high banks of the beautiful Fox river and surrounded by a most productive rural district

The site is improved greatly by many beautiful ravines ideally fitted by nature for parks and playgrounds though not yet fully appreciated.

Appleton is an unusual educational center, both of elementary and higher learning It is the home of Lawrence college, justly famous, and a faithful and loyal corps of teachers in the grades and high school.

Public and semi-public buildings of great merit are found here—the Y M. C. A., the free public library, the new hospital building, the high school, the college chapel and others.

A splendid, wide business street, College-ave., with blocks of unified architecture.

One of the largest papermill centers in the United States, giving employment to more than 4,000 persons

The best constructed and best maintained system of improved streets, 90 miles in extent, of any city in Wisconsin This reflects much credit on the common council and city engineer

A highly intelligent and unusually progressive chamber of commerce, striving for a better and bigger Appleton.

A resulting prosperous and contended citizenship

Has Lofty Ideals

Mr Smith stated, however that if he has rightly felt the heart beat of Appleton's citizens in his series of ward conferences, the city also is one of vision, a city of lofty civic ideals. Its citizens would not be satisfied in the future by past accomplishments only, however gratifying. A city with a soul will think of its children yet unborn, and of its responsibility to the future for safeguarding the welfare of the greater Appleton—the Appleton of 30,000 people certain to be here in 20 years.

"Your city needs a program based upon a thorough civic survey of its present and future needs," said the speaker, "the final result of which should show in a city plan."

These features were named as the ones to be covered by the city plan

A zoning law which would fix and determine the boundaries of Appleton's residential, industrial and business districts for the mutual protection of the entire community

A traffic study which would determine the best and most needed major or arterial system of traffic streets, including provision for new bridges necessarily forming an important link of such improved and enlarged street system.

Closely connected with such a study would be the suggestion of the best plan for the future extension of car lines as well as consideration of a union depot site for the greater Appleton

Need More Parks

Large and growing areas of the city now are entirely devoid of parks. The city plan should include suggestive areas to supply these present deficiencies as well as to point out the best way in which to join the parks by a boulevard system. In this way when the streets were improved the type of pavement might be selected to meet future needs.

The fact that at present nearly every street in the city crosses a railroad at grade suggests that the city plan should include a study to determine the best location of a viaduct over the tracks so the fast growing traffic, both street and railroad, may not progressively endanger the lives of citizens

Rapt attention was paid by Mr Smith's hearers as he showed again the views explaining why Appleton needed zoning laws, park and beautifying plans, more attention to traffic and the other features of a model city Questions were asked and the views of a number of citizens were obtained through the discussion.

Mr Smith will close his series of talks with the one on housing to be presented at a massmeeting of citizens at 8 o'clock Thursday evening in the vocational school auditorium He is anxious to greet a large and representative body of citizens

WANT BIG CROWD TO HEAR ADDRESS ON HOUSE PROBLEM

Community Planner Will End Series of Informal Discussions Tonight.

An audience that will pack the vocational school auditorium is expected at the mass meeting on city planning at 8 o'clock Thursday evening. Leonard S Smith, city planner, who has spoken in each ward, will give his closing informal talk at this meeting. It is open to every person in Appleton with no admission charged.

"Our audiences have not been quite as large as we would like," said Mr. Smith, "but that is due largely to the warm weather. I have been greatly pleased, however, at the interest shown. Those who did brave the heat came because they had the welfare of the city at heart, and our meeting therefore have been very profitable. I hope more of the Appleton people will grasp this opportunity to join in a movement that cannot help but benefit every person living here"

In this closing conference the local and national housing crisis will be discussed Suggestions will be made for solving this problem in Appleton New slides will be shown, descriptive of the war ruined houses of France. Some will be from the Argonne battlefields, where many of the Appleton boys participated in great battles Others will show the relation of a good home and democratic institutions, as well as the relation of city planning to the protection of home and factory in Appleton.

Mayor J A. Hawes, the aldermen and other city officials have followed the conferences with keen interest anxious to learn the sentiment of the people toward the local problems as well as making a study of the factors in the city's growth. These men also have expressed their hope that there will be a large attendance at Thursday evening's meeting.

17 CARLOADS OF MEN BOOST FOR APPLETON

Seventeen auto loads of Appleton merchants toured Outagamie county Wednesday to advertise the Independence day celebration here Monday.

The party left Appleton at 1:30 and followed this itinerary: Kimberly, Little Chute, Kaukauna, Freedom, Oneida, Seymour, Black Creek, Shiocton, Stephensville and Greenville. They returned to the city at 8 o'clock.

Each automobile was well placarded with posters advertising the event. Members of the Appleton theatre orchestra accompanied the party to "drum" up an audience in the places visited. In this they were quite successful as satisfactory crowds greeted the boosters at every stop. Elmer Johnston spoke briefly at each place, explaining the purpose of the trip and urging people to come to Appleton on Monday.

John Buhl of Hayton, was a business visitor in Appleton Tuesday.

BUDGET FOR HIGH SCHOOL IS $10,000 LESS THAN IN 1920

Tax Levy Will Be Less Than Year Ago, in Spite of Salary Increases.

Maintenace of Appleton high school will cost the city $10,000 less for 1921-22 than it did for 1920-21 according to the budget approved by the board of education in its annual meeting at the high school Wednesday noon.

This year the board asks the city council to levy a tax of $95,000 for school maintenance as compared to last year's tax levy of $105,090.

Part of the cut in expenses is due to a curtailment of the teaching force. The high school faculty had been based on an average of 20 pupils to each teacher whereas the standard is about 25 pupils to each mentor. In spite of the fact that an increase of at least 75 is expected in enrolment next school year the teaching force was reduced by two. This is equivalent to a reduction of five teachers on the basis of present enrolment.

The teacher budget is slightly larger than last year because of salary increases granted a few weks ago. The 1921-22 budget is $67,000 while last year it was approximately $66,700.

The $10,000 reduction in the budget represents the savings which are to be effected in the expenses of operation and maintenace of the school. Roughly estimated it will cost $28,000 for general expenses during the coming school year as compared with $38,000 for the year just over. The cost of coal to heat school buildings next winter was estimated at $3,500 and this is included in maintenance budget.

An adjustment of $1,050 for the recent fire loss in the high school when library books were destroyed, was reported to the board by George H. Packard. Movable fixtures in city schools are valued at $62,643 according to the inventory submitted to the board.

Reelect Officers

Following the hearing and approval of all reports, the board elected officers. Miss Carrie E. Morgan was reelected city superintendent of schools and also secretary of the board; Mayor J. A. Hawes was reelected chairman; Paul V. Cary was reelected vice chairman; Jacob Pfeil was reelected truant officer.

That 78, or more than half of the citys 132 teachers held unlimited state certificates is shown by Miss Morgan's annual report. Thirty-nine teachers hold state certificates and one one holds a second-grade city certificate. There are no third-grade teachers in the city's teaching force.

In her report Miss Morgan urges parents to study modern methods of school building to the end that when new buildings are constructed they will be conducive to the safety and welfare of the children. While she does not recommend ornate structures she believes they should be nonin-flammable, commodious and adapted to modern methods of teaching. She asks that definite action be taken on the question of erecting new buildings so that they will be provided within two year's time.

High School Crowded

The high school, she points out, is badly overcrowded and many makeshifts have been resorted to that the increase enrolment might be taken care of. Locker rooms have been converted into class rooms and storerooms into toilet rooms. Plans now are being made to convert three rooms into six by inserting partitions in order that more classrooms may be available. Work of converting the history room into a library is now being done and the English room is being divided to provide for a recitation room for history classes.

Members of the school faculties are making a special study of project teaching. This method is only in its infancy but is said to be capable of wonderful results if properly carried out. In this method, the children take the initiative and the work is spontaneous.

This method offers wide opportunities for the correlation of fundamental subjects. Geography and history can be correlated with drawing and manual training by this method and the pupils will benefit in several subjects at once by following the project method. Several schools have already introduced the new method and have taken up a few projects.

Miss Morgan expresses satisfaction at the sensible turn taken in the recent commencement exercises of grammar and high schools and touches upon the commendable way the finishing classes broke loose from the customary stilted program.

CAPACITY OF STEAMER PAUL L. AMOST SOLD

An accounting of tickets by the excursion committee of Olive Branch society of Mount Olive English Lutheran church at a meeting Tuesday evening at the home of Earl Kraemer, 815 Hancock-st., indicates that the steamer Paul L. will be filled to capacity on its trip to Oshkosh at 9 o'clock Independence day. The committee engaged a 10-piece Kaukauna orchestra to furnish music. The steamship company informed the committee that the summer schedule is filled, with no other trips booked from Appleton.

Married Women Find Favor In Eyes Of Employers Here

Employers Prefer Married Women Because They Are Steadier Workers.

Are married women more reliable in business positions than the typical unmarried woman? Apparently, yes. There has been an increasing tendency of late for married women to take positions and hold them while at the same time a great many younger girls have been dropped from the pay rolls. Investigation shows that the married woman takes more interest in her work and is not as frivolous as the girl whose mind is centered largely upon ways and means of attracting the attentions of young men.

One reason why there are so many married young women working now is because they married returned soldiers who had spent perhaps three years in service and had been somewhat handicapped for starting in business, according to Mrs. Rexford Spencer. She said she thought the girls who married soldiers were only glad to do their bit to help.

Mrs. G. W. Smith, who works in the Pettibone-Peabody Co., said that she and her husband were boarding with relatives and that if she were not working she wouldn't have enough to do to occupy her time. She said that by both working and boarding, they could live much more cheaply than by furnishing rooms and keeping house at the present price of furniture and necessities.

Mrs. August Schenck said she enjoys clerking and she wouldn't have enough work at home. She does her housework before and after store hours and Monday mornings.

It was learned that one prominent Appleton concern recently laid off a number of employes, not one of whom was married. The employers felt that the married girls were more efficient. In the first place they would not be running from one position to another as a great many unmarried girls try to do.

One young married woman stated that she felt it was entirely up to the employer. If he discovered that married girls were more reliable, it was his privilege to employ all married girls and vice versa. On the other hand she felt that unmarried girls who had to work should be considered first because they were dependent upon themselves, while a married woman had a husband to depend upon. She said she thought in the teaching profession an unmarried girl ought to have the preference because she had prepared and educated herself for the position while the married woman perhaps had taught for several years and had therefore received compensation.

It was thought by many that the reason why many girls are unemployed at present is because they probably are experienced in just one kind of work. If they are working at a certain type of machine in a mill and the mill closes down, these girls can not immediately get positions as clerks or as stenographers, because they are not prepared or experienced in these lines. Therefore the employers turn to married women who have had the necessary training and experience.

Many married women express themselves to the effect that a capable, experienced or well prepared girl whether married or single will probably secure a position if she is reliable, while one that is totally inefficient will be S. O. L., whether she is married or single.

TENNIS PLAYERS MEET ON "Y" COURTS TONIGHT

An important meeting of the girls who have signed up for tennis under the auspices of the recreation department of Appleton Womans club is called for 6:30 Thursday evening at the Y. M. C. A. courts. All of the girls have been asked to register at the club rooms either in person or by phone giving the time they wish to play and upon which courts they desire to play.

It is planned to divide the players into groups according to their abilities as tennis players so they can progress as rapidly as possible.

LICENSE SEEKERS MEET COMMITTEE; NOTHING IS DONE

Absence of Police Chief Makes Meeting Worthless—Drink Sellers Peeved.

Twenty-five applicants for permits to sell soft drinks attended the meeting of the license committee of the common council in the city hall Tuesday evening. Only two members of the license committee, Aldermen Joseph Mayer and A. W. Laabs, were present. Alderman J. McCann, the other member, being out of town.

Alderman Mayer, chairman of the committee, said the meeting was called at the request of the chief of police who wished to confer with them and whom he regretted was not in the city and hence there was nothing to do.

The chairman said the object of the meeting was to discuss matters pertaining to a strict observance of the statutes relating to the sale of intoxicating liquors. While no charges had been filed that such sales had been made it was evident to the saloonkeepers that where licenses were granted the city would expect the law to be carried out to the letter.

George W. Frazer inquired of the chairman why the applicants were called before the license committee. He said he was aware that if a saloonkeeper violated the law the council had a right to revoke his license, but the necessity of having them appear before the license committee was not clear to him.

The chairman repeated his explanation and Alderman Laabs attempted to throw additional light on the matter. The present licenses expire at midnight, June 30.

Among those who have made applications for new licenses are: George W. Frazer, Otto Zuehlke, A. C. Smith, John Pekel, P. A. Dohr, D. and P. Helmrath, H. Campbell, W. Schuman, P. Sauter, J. P. Shimek, J. H. Reck, Peter Stark, Miller & Rule, J. Sigl, Charles Wettengel, John A. Fose, W. D. Eggert, P. Vanden Heuval, F. Cavanaugh, Charles Moder, H. H. Krause, George Acker, A. G. Myse, P. The circus opened its season at Pomona, Calif., March 8, and has been working its way east. Much of the equipment has been renewed and thousands of dollars spent in refurnishing. New animals have been obtained and given training, enabling the circus to retain its reputation as an exclusive animal show.

STRAY BOBCAT KILLED BY POSSE OF FARMERS

Frank Lorenz and Joseph Tilly, town of Grand Chute, ended a 3-day hunt Wednesday when they killed a bobcat in Paddleford woods. The animal was seen in that locality by several people and a hunt has been in progress ever since. The bobcat went from one patch of woods to another, seldom showing itself. Its body was about 3 feet long and its captors intend to have it stuffed.

Residents of that locality were anxious to be rid of the animal because chickens and little pigs usually are killed by it. No such damage had been reported in the neighborhood. The bobcat is a species of lynx and is said to be vicious.

WISCONSIN RAPIDS BARBER TELLS OF CLOSEST SHAVE

Friends of "Charlie" Roselle, the popular Grand Ave. Barber of Wisconsin Rapids will be pleased to know that he has been restored to health and happiness.

"Although I'm past 55 years, I feel as strong and vigorous as a young man today," said Mr. Roselle Monday. "It took just two bottles of Kozak to fix me up. As my friends all know I have suffered from stomach and bladder trouble and a general run down condition. I know what it means to suffer from headaches, bladder weakness and severe backaches because I was always bothered with one or the other.

"Well sir, I kept on getting worse right along until I noticed in the newspapers what Kozak had accomplished for so many Wisconsin Rapids people so I made up my mind to go right over to Sam Church's drug store and get a bottle. I noticed results almost immediately. It wasn't long before I became stronger and more vigorous and noticed that my troubles were fast disappearing. I actually feel 100 per cent better and can't praise Kozak any too highly. If anyone is in doubt about this statement or doubts the merits of Kozak tell them to drop into my shop and I will be pleased to tell them what Kozak did for me." Kozak is explained and sold only at Schlintz Bros., Hortonville, Gitter; Kaukauna, Kaukauna Drug Co.; New London, Spearbrecker; Seymour, McCord.

THE RIGHT MAN FOR ECONOMY

The administration could not have picked out a better man for the important post of director of the budget than Mr. Dawes. In the first place he has a clear conception of financial affairs and knows how to handle and direct the use of money. He is a keen administrator, and will be quick to detect unnecessary estimates and to place his fingers upon extravagances.

Mr. Dawes has undertaken this work to give the president genuine economy in the expenditure of public funds and to advise him with regard to appropriations. Whatever Mr. Dawes undertakes he sees through and whatever he does he does well. He has ample courage to deal with politicians, no matter how deep may be their emotions or how loud their threats. He has no use for red tape, inefficiency and that species of log-rolling politics under which the pork barrel thrives so notoriously. It will be a lean pork barrel while he presides at the counter.

A complete new system is to be put into operation for the making of estimates. Every executive and administrative head will be held directly responsible for each estimate, will be required to revise it frequently and will have his record for economy, fully and searchingly analyzed by the budget director, before the president for examination and study. Every inducement is to be made to influence those who prepare estimates to scale them down to the limit. Rewards and punishments are a part of this program. Another phase of the new policy is that when the budget is once in it cannot be exceeded, and represents the maximum which can be spent.

This policy will save the government millions of dollars for the simple reason that in the past no one made any attempt to keep within estimates, and practically every department habitually exceeded appropriations and helped to create a large deficiency bill. There were so many loose ends and so much extravagance that no official pretended economy. The idea was to spend all that could be gotten, and then to go in debt.

With congress disposed to make no reductions in the military establishment, and the prospects of disarmament exceedingly doubtful, the necessity for administrative economy becomes all the greater. If we have to go on sinking billions into the navy we can at least make the dollars count in all other agencies of government. This is the purpose of the new budget system, and it is the very personal purpose of Mr. Dawes, to whom we may look for some real results in the line of fiscal retrenchment.

HOUSE AND SENATE AGREE

The house and senate conferees have agreed upon a compromise peace resolution, which is to embody features of both the Knox resolution in the senate and the Porter resolution in the house. The striking fact in the agreement is the elimination from the senate resolution of the clause repealing the declaration of war. Under the plan adopted, the war is simply declared to be at an end.

In this respect at least sanity and judgment prevail. A resolution of the kind which repealed the declaration of war would have been a mistake to be deplored through the rest of American history. There was nothing to reconcile it with facts, with justice, patriotism or American aims in the war. It would have amounted to a confession by the government of the United States that it regretted the declaration of war, that war was not intended and that apologies were offered for the wrong committed. It could be construed in no other way, for the repeal of a resolution or declaration of congress is the same as repeal of an act, an admission that it was not desirable or not justified and should not have been adopted.

Fortunately for the United States the reckless and altogether mysterious policy of the author of the senate resolution is repudiated. The people refused to follow him in this absurd and dishonorable course and they impressed their feelings so strongly upon the house that it refused to be forced into line by the usually persuasive politicians of the senate. If a peace resolution is to be passed, we now have it apparently in its most harmless form. After it is passed the situation will be the same and we shall still have to negotiate peace with Germany.

GERMANY COMING BACK

That Germany is "coming back" industrially faster than any other European nation, is the almost unanimous opinion of close students of affairs abroad. Production is showing a healthy increase, especially in the basic industries, and each month shows a decrease in unemployment.

The relations between employers and employes seem to have been more generally adjusted than in other countries, with the result that Germany is practically free of strikes.

The German genius for organization and economical production seems to have reasserted itself, and there are reports of new and more highly developed forms of organization, designed to aid the German people in the great task which the allies' final reparation terms have set for them.

The prediction has been frequently made by those who are thoroughly familiar with German character, that within ten years Germany will regain her position of European industrial domination; this notwithstanding the great handicap of the reparation debt.

As the situation stands today between Germany and the other European nations, the chances seem better than even that this prediction will be fulfilled. The very necessities of her situation are forcing and will continue to force Germany to ever-increasing industry and efficiency.

OUR FAULTY ECONOMIC SYSTEM

Dispatches from California recently told of great piles of harvested fruits there being left to rot. Now come reports from Maine that thousands of barrels of potatoes have been dumped into the fields of that state because of no profitable market. Every so often we have conditions of this kind in various parts of the country. Fruit or vegetables of one sort or another cannot be marketed at a profit, and are either not harvested or are not sold after being stored.

In some instances these losses are a result of speculation. Markets at times are artificially manipulated in such a way that price depressions fail to bring out food supplies, with the result that they become a total loss. In some instances growers themselves store their products for a rise and a long price. In the event that this is realized they come out all right, but occasionally it happens that the market goes to a very low level and the products go to rot.

Losses of this kind are a result of an economic system which at times is faulty and other times vicious. The men who raise and the men who merchandise fruit are primarily the victims of this system, but the public in reality is the greatest sufferer when it comes to economic waste. One of the problems of commerce and government is to so correct this system so that waste will be reduced to a minimum and products will flow normally, efficiently and profitably from the soil to the consumer through such channels as may be required to make the distribution most perfect.

TODAY'S POEM

By Berton Braley

UNIVERSAL

Oh, the ruling passion
Of our womankind
Is to be in fashion.
So today we find,
If we watch them clearly,
With our eyes alert,
Every woman, nearly,
Wears a short, plaid skirt!

Till that fashion passes,
You'll be helpless, quite;
For you'll find all classes
Seem to greet your sight
With the same impression—
Till your eye it hurts—
Of a long procession,
Made of short, plaid skirts!

Yes, the chorus cutie
And the sub-deb smart,
And the cold, proud beauty
Can't be told apart;
And you can't tell, brother,
Any gay young flirt
From your own grandmother—
In a short, plaid skirt!

EKE THE COMMON TUB

An Iowa reader wishes to know whether any kind of infection is likely to be spread through the use of the common communion chalice in church.

The common towel, the common drinking cup, the common tooth brush, the common bathtub, and I suppose I might add the common swimming pool, the common lake, the common ocean and the common world, are looked upon with more or less suspicion by us scientific sharps. It appears that somebody isolated a few cooties and an itch mite or two from the roller towel in a classy boarding house, and that sort of shivered our timbers.

Now, this is a mighty difficult question. I must summon all my best judgment and circumspection in formulating an answer, for, referring to Familiar Quotations, I must ply a course between the Scylla of ultra-scientismisticness on the one hand (sometimes Friend Noah is anything but helpful) and the Charybdis of what is too often termed "common sense" on the other.

Personally, if my lip were not cracked or anything, I should as soon drink from a common drinking cup as from a cup privately owned and parked under guard.

As for a bout with the roller towel, why, it is scarcely two or three years since I was offered, on many an occasion, a fair to middling clean spot on a roller towel wherewith to wipe my hands in a hospital! And it was a first class hospital. Sometimes I preferred to remain wet, sometimes I joined the drys, depending on the general state of the weather—cloudy weather being unfavorable to the drys.

I fear I left out of the list the most terrific of all these common adventures The common comb, brush and the unwashed hands of the common barber or hair dresser. All the other commons things pale into insignificance beside these.

Certainly it would be folly to use a drinking cup or any other utensil habitually used by a person believed to have diphtheria, scarlet fever, whooping cough, meningitis, coryza, tuberculosis, pneumonia, quinsy, syphilis, measles, smallpox, simple sore throat, acute bronchitis or infantile paralysis in the stage of invasion. Each and all of these infections are unquestionably conveyed through saliva or other secretions discharged from nose or mouth, and there is good reason to believe—we can't prove it—that the virus may survive long enough on objects contaminated with such saliva or secretions to remain virulent to the individual who shortly implants the sample in his own mouth.

Oh, yes, there's another common thing — the street-car transfer—which often conveys saliva quickly from conductor to patron or from patron to conductor, via thumb moistening and the holding of the transfer in the mouth. And here should be placed the woman who holds a coin in her mouth while closing her purse and the program boy who slips you a generous gob of his saliva with every program.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Economy

We are a childless couple 34 years of age and never will have children of our own. Do you think it would be foolish for us to adopt a year-old baby boy of good parentage and perfect health? We are paying for our home out of an income of $160 a month and must make that do for everything. Some folks say we would be foolish to burden ourselves with a child till in better circumstances, but I'm afraid we will be too old and selfish by that time. I am quite nervous but I believe if I had something to think of besides myself I should be less nervous ..... (Mrs. K. M. C.)

ANSWER—You are probably right. What's a house—can't really call it a home—without children? The baby is a better investment than any mere real estate. Adopt the baby and enjoy living.

Nervous Breakdown

I am writing these few lines ..... you claim there is no such thing as nervous breakdown .... would like to know how you explain my case and why I suffer such great mental and physical pain..

ANSWER—I have tried to make clear that "nervous breakdown" does not explain any failure of health All sorts of disease conditions are dubbed "nervous breakdown" by the complacent victim, by doctors who have few diagnostic qualms, and by doctors who do not care to give out the real nature of patients' illnesses. Of course I can't explain why you suffer, without having personally examined you and learned what is the matter. When I assert that there is no such disease as "nervous breakdown," "rheumatism" or a "cold," I am not ignoring common evidence, but merely trying to impress upon you that these terms are all vague, meaningless, misleading subterfuges, curiosity-quieting names doctors apply when they don't really know or do not care to divulge the nature of the illness.

Twenty-Five Years Ago

Thursday, July 2, 1896

Postoffice Inspector Ralph Bird of Milwaukee was in Appleton on business.

Mr and Mrs. Oscar Steinke, who were married the night previous, departed for their new home at Horicon.

Judge G. T. Moeskes of the county court was recovering from a prolonged illness.

Mrs. Joseph Schreiter sprained her ankle while learning to ride a bicycle.

Karl Mathie, assistant pastor, expected to finish his work with the Congregational church and take his departure for Wausau by the end of the week. He was to be succeeded by William Wescott.

The cases of the several Kaukauna paper companies against the city of Kaukauna was to come up in circuit court the following Friday morning. In these cases the companies allege their assessment was illegal as their property was assessed much too high in comparison to other property of the city.

The board of equalization which consisted of George Schuldes, Henry Holbrook and Herman Beske and Councilmen Harwood, Meyer and Peerenboom was in session at the city hall.

The Menasha Press began the publication of a daily edition.

A deal was closed the day previous whereby Lamar Olmstead sold his stock in the Riverside Fibre Co to H. D. Smith, Thomas Pearson and W. B. Murphy, the other members of the firm.

Charles M. Beveridge and Miss May Johnston were married the evening previous at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Johnston.

A deed was recorded in the office of register of deeds transferring the property of the Green Bay & Winona railroad to Mark T. Cox, president of the Farmers Loan and Trust Co. of New York. The consideration was $1,000,000.

BOGUS "FUNDS"

Declaring that there have been many funds started which were said to be for the benefit of ex-service men and women and which were used illegitimately, the Los Angeles, Cal., Advertising club has voted to withhold contributions and indorsement from any future campaign until the local American Legion posts have investigated.

Human Race Portrait

By Frederic J. Haskin

Washington, D. C.—Perhaps the nearest thing in existence to a pictorial representation of the human race and its works, in all of their variety, is contained in the collection of photographs owned by the National Geographic Society here, which has taken for its mission in life to make all parts of the world known to all of its inhabitants.

Haskin

For many years the most accurate description possible was relied upon to teach to the home-keeping the customs, dress, climate, religion, flora fauna, likes and dislikes of the world and their peoples. Eagerly though this was received, the most skillful, writing in the world was not found entirely to fill the bill. The marvels and beauties of the world could not be pictured adequately in cold type. Something better and more human was needed, and the camera supplies it.

Since then men have been braving the elements and the whims and prejudices of strange peoples the world over in order that pictures of life as it is in every nook and corner might be procured and presented to millions of people doomed by circumstances to a first-hand view of only a small portion of the earth's surface.

Although approximately 1,200 of these photographs are published yearly by the National Geographic society, there are filed away in its Washington offices and awaiting presentation some 150,000 other pictures of the widest range, the subjects varying from the southern polar regions to the earth's northern axis, from the snow-capped peaks of the Himalayas to our own Death Valley; and as geography includes the fauna, the collection extends to the wondrous fish who spend their lives hundreds fathoms deep in tropical waters, as well as the feathered songsters of the skies.

Many popular but erroneous ideas have been exploded by this wide use of the camera. Pictures dispelled the idea that a Chinaman is congenitally unable to laugh. Mothers of children in far-off India lavish the same affection on their offspring as do mothers in Louisiana or Connecticut. An East Indian woman, possessed of a daughter, does not invariably hurl her progeny into the gaping jaws of the crocodiles of the sacred Ganges, any more than the shark turns over on its back to rend its prey.

Pictures That Are Hard To Get

In many lands, notably in the Moslem countries, the greatest persuasion is necessary to induce men and women to submit to having their photographs taken, as explorers, photographers, and staff men of the Geographic society would have them taken. Often there is met a flat determination that no picture shall be taken, all of which is born of an ancient law.

Mohammed, founder of the religion bearing his name, to guard against having his followers slip back into idolatry, expressly forbade the pictured representation of any living thing, and this injunction is largely heeded by the believers in Allah to this day. Often they carry it further, and look with suspicion and distrust upon any one who disregards the mandate of the Prophet. The eye of the camera is to them an evil thing, to be shunned as the plague. Despite this handicap many pictures of the peoples of the Moslem world have appeared in the publication of the Society, even one of the sacred carpet at Mecca, and hundreds more are in the files of the organization.

The general use of the camera in some of the show places of the world, not only by professional photographers and artists, but by tourists, has brought a realization to the peoples of some of these places that they can gain pelf by posing. In Sicily this has resulted in practically every native refusing to be photographed merely as a courtesy. So generally has this spread through the island that it is now almost an impossibility to obtain even a casual snapshot unless the natives are paid for their services. Thus posing has come to be an important source of revenue to the peasants there.

The oasis of Biskra, in Algeria, is another instance. Staff men of the Geographic society have found a disinclination to being photographed on the part of the residents there which was at first put down to religious scruples. Yet the aversion to the camera was quickly overcome at the sight of money. The picturesque people of the oasis had found a demand for their portraits with the background of their romantic haunts, and thriftily put a price on their cooperation.

On the island of Maarken, in Holland, nearly everyone is primarily a poser for the errant camera man. But there, too, this posing is for a price. Daily these islanders, young and old, attire themselves in the old-fashioned Dutch costume, and are willing prey for the hunter with the camera—if first their palms are crossed with silver. At Volendam, Holland, where the costume differs, the same situation exists.

The Suspicious Ainu

The ancient aboriginals of Japan, the Ainu race, have strong disinclination to the camera, and neither money nor gifts will wean them away from this aversion. Only persuasion of the most diplomatic quality will gain Ainu pictures for the geographic photographer. These people, supposedly a white race in the northernmost islands of the Japan group, are in a low state of civilization, worshipers of the bear, and nearly every one is convinced that an evil spirit inhabits the camera box. They believe that they will wither away and die if they submit to having their pictures taken.

The organization founded for the purpose of humanizing geography has turned eagerly to pictures taken from airplanes and balloons. Many of these have been obtained and published because they are found to be of great use in teaching geography in schools and homes of the country. Entire cities as well as the wonderful topography of great stretches of country can be shown in a single graphic picture. Airmen the world over are working hand in glove with the society in this development.

Grave dangers often threaten the wandering camera man. The staff men of the organization have repeatedly been in tight places in many corners of the world, but thus far have come through unscathed. One of them, recently returned from a long trip to many curious byways of the world, states that the worst situation in which he found himself was during the fighting between the northern and southern factions in China in 1919. The land lying between the two military forces was overrun with brigands, and he had heard that opium was being made there, with the connivance of some of the leaders of both Chinese armies.

"I wanted to get some pictures of this opium business," he said. "In spite of warnings by the dozen, I went into this territory. By adopting a policy of the utmost frankness with the men I met, telling them that I had heard that opium was being made again, and that I wanted to make pictures of the poppy fields, I eventually managed to disarm suspicion of any more sinister designs on my part, and after a good many exciting adventures, I got my pictures."

Perhaps one good picture out of ten "shots" can be called a good average for even the expert camera man, because a picture must contain the important components of human interest, artistic grouping, the very necessary quality of being educational, and must be capable of good reproduction. It sometimes happens that a chance snapshot becomes the finest sort of prize. Such was the case recently when John Oliver La Gorce, associate editor of the National Geographic Magazine, while on the way to try to rediscover the glorious flamingo on a lonely island of the Bahama group, snapped an old-time square-rigged ship under full sail, racing along in the middle of the Gulf Stream off the Florida coast. This picture was snapped from the heaving deck of a little yacht as it crossed the old hooker's bow. From an enlargement of this photograph was obtained the frontispiece of a recent issue of the Geographic, and it has become probably the best known picture of a sailing ship in the world, for not only has it gone into 750,000 homes throughout the nation, with the Society's publication, but many thousands of requests for the picture came from all over the globe.

Adventures of the Twins

Olive Roberts Barton

Tag Tiger Caught

Leppy Leopard lived in a sandy cave between some rocks in the jungle, and pretty soon Tag Tiger came snooping along hoping to find Leppy at home.

"Sniff, sniff!" he went around Leppy's front door, but before he knew it, wasn't he "kerchooing" his head nearly off again. Pepper, but he didn't know it!

"Drat it!" he screamed. "Where did I get such a cold? And the medicine books all say to feed a cold! How can I feed my cold when I can't get near enough to my dinner to catch it, much less eat it?"

Just then something or someone, went "Tee-hee!" right behind him and old Tag turned fiercely He couldn't see Nancy or Nick or Flippety-Flap very plainly, but he made a spring at them anyway, being so hungry he'd taken a chance at anything. He couldn't afford to lose another dinner That was exactly what the little schemers were after—not to be eaten, but to be followed.

They jumped and ran, with cross old Tag Tiger after them at their very heels. It did seem sometimes as though the old fellow was indeed going to have a very good meal of three courses, but Magic Shoes are Magic Shoes, so what chance has a tiger?

On they scampered, followed by old Tag, across jungles and deserts swimming seas and hopping lakes until they came to the circus There stood Tag's cage with the door wide open, and what did they do but rush right in! But the twins and the fairyman did something that Tag couldn't do They crawled through the bars on the other side—their shoes obligingly making them little as mice—and Tag was fairly caught, for they ran around and slammed the door of his cage before he knew what had happened.

But Tag is happy now He lives on juicy roast beef—without pepper

Priest, Doctors, Nurses Dig For New Hospital

Ceremony Marks Breaking of Ground for Half Million Dollar Structure.

Excavation for the new hospital was formally begun at 9 o'clock Monday morning by impressive and appropriate services in which Father Josaphat the hospital sisters of the Fransiscan order, special nurses on duty in St Elizabeth hospital and the doctors participated while many patients viewed the ceremony from the fire-escape on the south side of the structure

Father Josaphat of St. Joseph church blessed the site of the new hospital and invoked a blessing upon the workers who made it possible. He then dug the first shovel of earth The sisters of the Fransiscan order lead by the Mother Superior followed and each dug a shovel of earth The special nurses on duty and the doctors who were present all participated by digging a shovel full of dirt which was placed upon a wheel barrow and carried off All during the day as the doctors came and went they all went out to have a hand in the excavation ceremony

The steam shovel arrived on the scene Tuesday assisted by trucks and started the work The top soil was saved so that it might be replaced when the grading has been completed The dirt is being carried by trucks to the north side of the present building and used in filling in for a new driveway

J. H. Tenne who is supervising the construction, has been doing this kind of work for the Fransiscan sisters for a number of years and is widely experienced along this line An office has been erected with telephone connections and a shed has been built for housing the implements and tools It is expected that the work of excavation will be completed within a few weeks It will be necessary to remove a number of fruit trees to make way for the structure.

The sisters feel that the new hospital will mean a great deal to the community in the way of better hospital service. The present building is inadequate It is so crowded constantly that patients have to be placed in corridors which makes it inconvenient for the patients and nurses. The corridors cannot be kept as free from drafts and from noise

The new structure will be modern in every way giving patients the best possible care and comfort. They will not have to be rushed out to make room for the next as they have had to do in the old hospital It will be much cooler in summer One great advantage will be that a great many rooms will be situated on the south side Sun parlors will be pleasant rooms for the convalescents

A private telephone system will make it possible for conversation betwen patient and friends when he is able to visit.

The sisters have expressed themselves as appreciative of what the Appleton people have done during the campaign for making the splendid hospital possible

Earl Rogers and Wallie Reitz were New London visitors Wednesday

CITY TO CLOSE UP "SWIMMING HOLES"

Police Department Puts Stop to Promiscuous Swimming in River.

Swimming at various places along the Fox river will be no longer permitted by the Appleton police department Groups of boys have been warned occassionally by policemen, but usually repeated the offense A number were swimming in the government turning basin near Lake-st bridge Wednesday, but were ordered out of the water Patrolmen are ordered to arrest all swimmers hereafter

"We intend to enforce the ordinance passed by city several years ago prohibiting swimming along the river bank,' said Capt. Patrick Vaughn, who is in charge of the department in the absence of Chief George T Prim "A municipal swimming pool was provided by the city fathers at considerable expense to end the yearly toll of drownings, and there is no need to go elsewhere to swim. Fortunately we have had no drownings from swimming so far this year and we do not want to invite them through the river danger."

There is a beach at Alicia park which swimmers will be permitted to use now that this has been acquired by the city Bathers must not go out too far, however, because they will come in contact with the current, Capt. Vaughn says. The city intends to improve this beach and establish a danger line beyond which none may go

HAD NERVOUS BREAKDOWN

Mrs. Ireland Permits us to Publish this Letter for the Benefit of Others Who Are in Her Condition

Warsaw, Missouri.—"For five years I was weakly, nervous and in a run-down condition. Then I had a nervous breakdown and doctors said I would never be well again. After I took seven bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I was healthier, stronger and felt better than I ever did in my life before. I can't praise the Compound enough and will recommend it to all women. You may publish this letter if you think it will help others." — Mrs. FLOYD IRELAND, R. R. 1, Warsaw, Mo.

Nervous women are both ailing and wretched, and with a nervous breakdown all joy goes out of a woman's life. It is said that the ills peculiar to women act on the nerves like a firebrand.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is successful in overcoming such conditions, and a large number of American women who were once great sufferers from nerve troubles owe their present health and comfort to it and it contains no narcotics or harmful drugs.

TAX EQUALIZATION IS NEXT ISSUE, BLAINE SAYS

Albion, Wis.—In his first purely political speech since election, Gov. John J. Blaine declared that the question of equalizing taxes would be the real issue in the next campaign.

The speech came as a climax to a progressive rally at Albion attended by 700 farmers, at which Senator Herman Severson, Dairy and Food Commissioner J. Q. Emery, Solomon Levitan and E. Jonstad were speakers.

"Until the fight is settled," said the governor, "I shall not fail to raise my voice for an equalization of taxation. I do not want to destroy business and industry in the state but their prosperity will not continue unless we take the heavy burden of taxation off from the man who earns by the sweat of his brow. The legislature has failed and we must carry the issue to the next campaign."

PLAN SURPRISE FOR APPLETON BALL TEAM

New Pitcher Is Signed for Sunday's Game—Team Is Working Nights.

Kaukauna. — The Kaukauna baseball team seems to be the goat of the Fox River Valley league, but the management still is confident that the worm will turn. Brailmeier, the pegger who had been signed up for last Sunday cancelled his job at the last moment and Guenther was taken on.

Apparently his pitching was not up to requirements, for arrangements are being made to secure another for the battle Sunday with the Brandts of Appleton. The man is to be a "darkhorse" and judging from his past record, he is some hurler. Big plans are being made to spring a big surprise on the team which has so firmly announced its intention of copping the valley title.

A change will be made in the outfield also. The best material available will be shifted into positions where it will be of most advantage to the team. The men are out on the field every night getting practice in fielding and in hitting.

Who Will Win

W. J. Paschen—Carpentier will be whipped before the fight begins. He will get so stage struck he won't know how to fight. I don't think the Frenchman will last very long in the ring.

Why Grow Old Before Your Time?

It isn't years alone that make one old. Many folks are younger at 70 than others are at 50. A lame, bent back, stiff, achy joints, rheumatic pains, bad eyesight, and bladder irregularities are often due to kidney weakness and not advancing years. Don't let weak kidneys age you. Use Doan's Kidney Pills. Doan's have made life more comfortable for thousands of elderly folks. Ask your neighbor!

Here's an Appleton Case

Mrs. Mary Dowe, 819 State-st., says: "Backache bothered me and I had a steady, dull hurt across my kidneys, which annoyed me day and night. My kidneys acted too often and I had awful headaches and spells of dizziness. I also was run down, but when I had an attack, I used Doan's Kidney Pills from Voigt's Drug store and they always benefited me."

FIX NEW WAGE SCALE FOR WOMEN WORKERS

Madison.—A revision of minimum wage rates for women and minor employes was today announced by the Industrial Commission as its determination upon the petition which it has had under consideration for many months for an increase in the minimum wage rates and reduction in the hours of labor of women and minors. The commission's order will increase the minimum wage for experienced employes over 17 years of age to 25c per hour after August 1, 1921, in cities with a population of 5,000 and over and in communities which are a part of the industrial area of such cities. In other parts of the state the present rate for experienced employes of 22c is left unchanged.

The beginning rate during the first three months of the learning period is reduced from 18c per hour to 16c per hour. No change is made in the present rate of 20c per hour for the second three months of employment in any industry, and similarly no change is made in the present provision of a six months learning period. For minor employes between 14 and 16 years of age the new rate is 16c per hour during the first year of employment and 20c per hour during the second year, instead of a flat 18c rate for all children up to 16. Minors between 16 and 17 may be paid 16c per hour during the first six months in any industry and must be paid 20c thereafter.

INCREASE OF 102 IN ENROLMENT IN CITY'S SCHOOLS

Average Attendance Last Year Better Than 1920, Annual Report Shows.

Enrollment in Appleton public schools for the year just closing was 102 greater than in 1920 according to the annual report of Miss Carrie E. Margon, city superintendent. This does not include the vocational school.

The increase is divided among the three classes of schools as follows: kindergarten, 17; grade schools, 21; high school, 64. The total enrollment in these schools was 3,346 this year compared to 3,244 in 1920. The kindergarten in district No. 4 shows a gain of 16 pupils and the grade school in district No. 1 has an increased enrollment of 26. The ungraded school gained 14 during the year.

The total enrolment of the vocational school this year was 1,498 or a gain of 349 over last year. More than twice as many men and women took advantage of the courses as did boys and girls. The figures are: boys, 192; men, 403; girls, 233; women, 670.

Reasons for extension of evening vocational work into the ward schools are given in the report. This was done for two reasons: First it would have been impossible to accommodate in the vocational school all who wanted to take the work. Second, many who wished to take the work felt that the distance from their homes to the trade school was too great but they were glad to go to their own ward buildings. However, due to lack of funds, this work was discontinued at the end of the first semester.

Smaller Classes

Eighty-three students were graduated from the high school this year. This is 13 less than last year when the school graduated its largest class Graded schools in the city graduated 203 pupils which is a decrease of one from last year. Practically all of these pupils are said to be planning to enter high school in September.

The average daily attendance for the district and high schools was 2,761 which is a gain of 48 over last year. Less absence occurred from epidemics of contagious diseases than in the preceding year. Practically every child of compulsory school age attended school.

Five hundred forty-two cases of nonattendance were investigated during the year according to Truant Officer Jacob Pfeil's report. Of these, 302 were boys and 240 were girls. Causes of nonattendance were given as follows: Truancy, 41; parental negligence, 152; other causes, 219. The report also shows these items: Calls made at various schools, 186; parents notified of violation of the law, 10; pupils returned to school, 51; cases of destitution, 3; cases before Judge Spencer, 1.

Thirty-two pupils were enrolled in the two ungraded schools which were consolidated in the Post building and the Misses Lydia Schottler and Esther Kastner were in charge. The work done consisted of sewing, weaving, lace-making, chair-caning, brush-making and other forms of manual training. Gymnasium work was taken by the boys in the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium and the girls were given some training by their regular teachers.

Deaf children will receive their instruction in the Third ward school next year instead of at Columbus school where the work has been carried on in the past. The move was made necessary by building congestion. The school has an enrollment of 20 pupils.

Install Compressor.

Installation of a gas compressor has been completed by the Wisconsin Traction, Light, Heat and Power company at Neenah, to be connected to the new 200,000 cubic foot gas holder at the Twin City substation. Better service will result as soon as this is completed. The gas is to be pumped from the holder into the mains.

Sit Calmly By And Listen To Housing Woes

Mr. and Mrs. Wren just laugh when people say there is a shortage of houses. They turn a deaf ear to the grumbling about high rents. Hunting for a place to live day after day holds no terrors for them.

This privileged family also selects just the locality it wants to live in; moves if the neighborhood doesn't suit; is never crowded in by other houses and enjoys a freedom unknown to many.

Such an ideal situation would attract the envy of many who live in Appleton, but jealously is useless, because Mr. and Mrs. Wren are so small they can live where no humans could, and in places where few other birds, for such they happen to be, can go.

Every rural mail carrier finds at least one or two Wren families in possession of mail boxes on the route. It is not an uncommon occurrence to open a lid and have a bird fly out excitedly. The wrens are so small they can enter the boxes through the letter slot. They bring in sticks and grass for nests. When a mail carrier removes the nest, he will find a new one made the next day. Once they have possession, these tiny feathered folk insist that no landlord or anybody else can order them out or enforce eviction proceedings.

APPLETON JUNCTION IS ACHIEVING PROMINENCE

Appleton Junction, which has long been known as the most important railroad transfer point in this part of the state, is now gaining prominence in tourists circles because of it being so close to Alicia park which has been converted into a public camping ground.

In order to reach the camping grounds, which have proven popular from the start, tourists have to go by way of the Junction and usually get most of their supplies there. The official route in reaching the park is west on Lawrence-st. and south on Outagamie-st. The latter street has been put in excellent condition and was oiled about a week ago.

Railroad employes claim the depot at Appleton Junction has the distinction of being the hottest place in the state. Being located at an exposed point and with no trees to protect it, the sun beats down upon the platform and ties until they become so hot they burn a person's feet.

PARADE, CONCERT, GAMES AND EATS ON FORESTER PROGRAM

Visitors Coming From a Dozen Cities to Independence Day Picnic.

Members of the Catholic Order of Foresters from the courts at Oshkosh, Neenah, Menasha, Kaukauna, Kimberly, Little Chute, Hilbert, Stockbridge, Shiocton, Chilton, Black Creek, Greenville and Mackville will participate in the celebration which is to be put on by the Appleton court, Catholic Order of Foresters, at Pierce park, Monday, July 4.

Not only will neighboring cities and towns be well represented at the event but it is expected that many from the country districts will attend. Plans are being made by the program committee for a big street parade to start from Forester home on Washington-st. at 1:15 in the afternoon. Joseph B. Langenberg is making arrangements to have as many automobiles as possible in the procession.

The parade will travel from the Forester home to the Sherman house and then on College-ave. to Pierce park. Inspiring music for this feature will be furnished by the One Hundred Twenty-first artillery band. The band will entertain with concerts at the park during the afternoon and evening.

The afternoon's program will start at 1:30 when the Oshkosh Foresters' team will clash with the Appleton court squad. Following the game several prize contests will be held. The boys will oppose the men in a tug-of-war and the women will pull against the girls. Then there will be a ladies' nail-driving contest, peanut race, foot races, three-legged race, bag race and pie-eating contest.

Chairman Fred Felix Wettengel of the Park board has hurried the work of preparing the park for the event. Work of putting the standard size baseball diamond in shape has been rushed and is now nearly complete. Comfort stations are being erected and 20 picnic tables will be ready for use.

Automobile owners who wish to join in the parade are asked to notify J. B. Langenberg as soon as possible. This is the first public affair to be held in the newly acquired park and the program committee urges Appleton people to take advantage of this opportunity of visiting the park and getting some idea of the recreation it affords.

AUTO THEFT CASE WILL BE TRIED IN BROWN-CO.

Edward and Albert Moes, who were arrested Monday at Stiles, Oconto-co., for having stolen automobiles in their possession, will have their first trial in Brown-co. on charges preferred by the Green Bay police. The men at first were turned over to Calumet-co. authorities charged with the alleged theft of the cars from Waverly beach, owned by Ideal Lumber and Coal company, and Clarence Van Rixel, Kaukauna. They were returned to Green Bay again Tuesday night.

It is said that the automobiles were sold and recovered from various points, making the case a complicated one because it involves four counties, Outagamie, Brown, Calumet and Oconto. It is believed that car thefts all through the northeastern part of the state will be solved when the case is thoroughly sifted. Detective John Duvall of the Appleton force is assisting in the investigation.

New Telephone Company.

Articles of incorporation have been filed with the secretary of state, Madison, by the Nichols Telephone company, Nichols, with capital stock of $15,000. The company proposes to construct, maintain and operate telephone lines in Outagamie and Shawano counties. The incorporators are A. VandeWalle, Jacob Hahn and A. L. Nichols.

NASH

Lower Prices on Nash Cars

Effective July 2

Nash Prices will be reduced, effective July 2.

This conforms to our statement made last October that Nash prices would be maintained until at least July 1, 1921.

The reasons were plain. Until manufacturing costs were lower we could not cut prices without cutting value, as Nash prices were not inflated.

We pointed out then that while the average rise in the price of motor cars for a four-year period had been 76% the price of Nash cars had been raised but 31%.

This 31% included the addition of cord tires as standard equipment and many other additions and refinements which added materially to the value of Nash cars.

So we re-affirmed our fixed intention of rigidly upholding the high quality of Nash cars.

Since then every effort of the Nash organization has been centered on effecting sound manufacturing economies.

New labor-saving devices were added and production practice so perfected that every process of Nash manufacture is a model of efficiency and economy.

The savings have been substantial. And they demonstrate as nothing else could demonstrate the remarkable Nash ability to produce fine cars at the lowest possible cost.

Even while working production costs downward we were improving Nash cars still further.

Now we can announce for July 2 a greater Nash value than ever at a reduced purchase price.

At the new prices the leadership of Nash cars is even more emphatically apparent.

Here Are the New Nash Prices Effective July 2

WRESTLING MATCH WILL PRECEDE BALL GAME NEXT MONDAY

Athletic Program Is to Begin at 1 o'Clock—Wind up Heavy Training.

Plans for the athletic entertainment here next Sunday afternoon have been changed to have the wrestling match start before the baseball game with the Menasha team of the Fox River Valley league. The big bout is to start at 1 o'clock and the ball game will begin about two hours later. There is a possibility, however, that the game will start shortly after 2:30 if the wrestling match is terminated soon enough.

The ring will be erected immediately in front of the grandstand. Chairs are to be placed on the diamond to accommodate bleacher fans. A slight extra charge will be made for their use. One ticket will admit the holder to the entire afternoon program.

Arrangements have been made to sell tickets for the baseball game only after the wrestling match is finished. This will be done for the accommodation of fans who are interested in baseball, but do not care for wrestling.

Manager Murphy will send the same team against Menasha that has won two games for the Brandts. The squad is working out this week in preparation for the game at Kaukauna Sunday. The Electric City gang has had hard luck this season, but believes it can get its start by stepping on Appleton.

Word from Chicago indicates that Freberg and Martinson, principals in the wrestling match, are winding up their heavy training and will come here in perfect condition. Both men have a lot at stake and will be ready to put up the best fight of their lives.

CARPENTIER ENDS TRAINING FOR BOUT

By United Press Leased Wire

Manhasset, N. Y. — "Just waiting for the bell," said Georges Carpentier Thursday.

The challenger has completed his training. He is in perfect physical condition and apparently untroubled by the imminence of the championship battle.

Having tipped the scales this morning at 172½ pounds and laid away the gloves until Saturday afternoon, Georges declares he will do nothing but rest from now on.

Georges' doctor is enthusiastic over his condition. Gus Wilson, whose job it is to massage and rub him down, says he was never so clean cut and ready for a fight. Francois Descamps goes about the farm rubbing his hands and smiling. After the little flurry of nerves which attacked the challenger's camp on Thursday everyone is on edge with confidence.

Sport Views And News

Who will win the fight?

That question has been asked the writer hundreds of times in the last few weeks. Columns and columns of perfectly good paper have been covered with opinions of experts and near experts. Newspaper writers have written reams of copy about the training camps and the fighters and have made predictions galore. Saturday afternoon will determine whether Carpentier has been keeping his best stunts under cover or if his work against his sparring partners had been fairly representative of his prowess.

From this distance it is pretty hard to form an opinion. Dempsey is a slugger and a fighter who possesses slightly more than ordinary skill as a boxer. He is of the rugged type of fighter, with plenty of pep and has the confidence of a champion. Carpentier is a boxer with a good punch, is fast as lightning, knows every trick of the boxing game and realizes that his greatest ambition is within his grasp.

There is little question about the condition of the men. Both will be in the pink. Manager Kearns is too clever and careful to permit his man to go against the French challenger without careful preparation. Descamps, with everything at stake, surely has Carpentier trained to the minute.

Dempsey's ability to take punishment is unknown. Since he achieved prominence he has had but one long fight and he didn't make any too good a showing in that. Carpentier has shown wonderful comeback ability in his scraps and has many long, gruelling battles.

That Carpentier will hit Dempsey and hit him hard is assured. It does not seem possible that Jack can dodge the fast jabs which the Frenchman will shoot at him. It is more than probable that Carpentier will land more blows than his opponent in the first round or two. Jack's punches carry more steam but will find Georges a difficult target to hit.

There isn't as much possibility that Georges will land a K. O. blow in the early rounds as there is that he will be on the receiving end of one. Dempsey's ability to withstand hard blows is unknown so it is hard to guess what will happen if Carpentier lands square.

From this distance it looks as if Dempsey will tear into the challenger from the start, try to brush him into the ropes and finish it with a punch. The small ring will make this easier than if the battle was to be fought in a 24-foot arena.

The writer feels that if the fight isn't ended with Dempsey scoring a knockout before the end of the fifth that Carpentier will stay to the end wih a possibility of scoring enough points to win a newspaper decision over the champion.

Second Baseman Walloping Ball at .306 Pace—Fine Fielding Averages.

Ranzm who played only three games, is clouting the ball at a .400 clip and Zielinski, with a mark of .379 has played in all the games.

BRITISHERS ARE GIVING CARP AN EVEN CHANCE

By United Press Leased Wire

London. — John Bull Thursday thought Georges Carpentier has an even chance of tearing the heavyweight crown from Jack Dempsey's head.

Interest in the fight of July 2 crept over England like a slow fever. Displaying only slight symptoms of interest a week ago, the British isles seaths Thursday with speculation as to the outcome. Betting at first was stagnant, increasing as the hour for the fight drew nearer.

The general public here favors Carpentier to win although its money does not say so very loudly.

Carpentier's exhibitions here have left the impression that he is the boxing marvel of the age.

BET $60,000 THAT JACK WILL PUT K. O. ON CARP

New York.—The big money is beginning to show its color on the Dempsey-Carpentier fight. For the first time since the bout was arranged, Wall street began betting heavily on Tuesday. Approximately $300,000 was wagered on the floor of the stock exchange.

The first bet recorded was $60,000 to $20,000 that Dempsey would score a knockout. It was snapped up. Thirty thousand dollars at the same odds went somewhat slower, but was finally placed. Another $30,000 failed to find takers at the same odds.

Who'll Win?

Inquiring Reporter Each Day Will Ask a Group of Men, Picked at Random, for Their Opinions on the Dempsey-Carpentier Fight.

William Smith—I hope Carpentier knocks Dempsey into next year, but I don't think he will. Dempsey is a big bum and doesn't deserve a chance. The only thing he is good for is to use his fists. He ought to be wrestling planks in the shipyards instead of fighting in the ring.

Oscar Kunitz—I have seen both Dempsey and Carpentier fight and anyone who says the Frenchman hasn't a show don't know what he is talking about. I saw the champ fight Brennen in Milwaukee and had Brennan been in shape, Dempsey would never have won the fight. I saw Carpentier fight in an exhibition match and I like the way he fights. I think he will slip one over on Jack before the fight is over. Carpentier is lighter but he packs an awful punch and he is quick enough to dodge Dempsey's rushes besides getting in a crack himself.

Joseph Pitz—Dempsey undoubtedly will win the fight. Carpentier isn't the man the champion is and I don't think he will be able to do much to him.

Ray Langraf—Why, Dempsey will knock Carpentier cold. Carpentier is only a kid in size as compared with Dempsey. In my opinion, the fight will not last over five rounds.

GOTHAM SEETHES WITH EXCITEMENT OVER BIG FIGHT

Dempsey Still Is 2 to 1 Favorite in Betting Circles—Scalpers Scalped.

New York—Gotham and its across the river neighbor, Jersey City, Thursday seethed with excitement over the Dempsey-Carpentier fight.

With work over in the training camps of Jack Dempsey and Georges Carpentier, the scene of activity shifted to the battle ground.

New York could gobble up a million out of towners without it causing a ripple on the surface but the hotels—the pulse of the city, reported a great wave of incoming fans. Hotels in the "roaring forties" were crowded and the outlying districts were getting plenty of overflow.

On the streets, in the hotel lobbies, even in the always crowded subways there was nothing but talk of the fight. Increases in betting activity was reported in the financial district where the champion was still a 3 to 1 favorite.

Work on the stadium in Jersey City was progressing more slowly than expected. The contractors may not be able to turn the big pine bowl over to Rickard until late Friday. The ring, eighteen feet square inside the ropes, was completed Thursday under the supervising eye of the New Jersey boxing commission. Unless a forty-eight hour rest adds a few pounds, Dempsey will fight at 192 and the Frenchman at 172. Both are through with their training and will rest until they enter the ring.

Dempsey will spend the eve of the battle in Jersey City but no one has been able to learn where he will sleep. Carpentier will remain at his Manhasset farm and motor to the arena Saturday around noon.

Rickard's announcement that the stadium had been built to accommodate 91,000 spectators instead of 60,000 as first was planned threw a bomb into the ranks of the scalpers. On many of the street corners where the speculators hold forth, $50 seats can be purchased for $55 nothing aproaching the $100 and $125 that the speculators predicted they would get. Cheaper seats still are available.

Some of the sharps who deal on figures predict that the receipts will be around $1,600,000 and that Rickard will come out of his adventure with a good profits. The expenses incidental to the staging of the battle are estimated at $1,000,000.

The weather bureau predicts generally fair weather from now on until July 4 with only slight change in temperature.

Rickard announced the battle will be put on unless it pours all day.

The preliminaries have been cut down to six bouts of eight rounds starting at 1 o'clock. If they are not completed at 3 o'clock they will be stopped for the "main show," Rickard said, in making emphatic his resolve to bring the two "big ones" into the ring at 3 o'clock.

What remains of the preliminaries will be staged after the big fight to entertain those of the fans who want to keep their seats until the rush is over.

No Ty Cobbs or Walter Johnsons have been discovered or developed so far, but the wheat that has been sifted from the chaff is of a high grade.

The American League has retained 44 rookies and released 89.

The National League has 48 survivors. Seventy-two have been sent back.

Strange as it may be, the Pittsburg Pirates, now leading the race in the National, lead all clubs in youngsters. George Gibson kept an even dozen youngsters and some of them are helping the Pirates to hold the top rung.

Cleveland, leader of the American League, has but one rookie who trained with them.

Picking the season's best rookie is impossible. Some have had a better chance than others to show their wares.

But among the most valuable who are playing regularly and starring, First Baseman Ray Grimes, Outfielder John L. Sullivan and George Maisel of the Chicago Cubs and Second Baseman Jimmy Tierney and Pitcher Ralph Glazner of the Pittsburg Pirates, stand out in the National League brilliants.

In the American League, First Baseman Lew Blue and Catcher Johnny Bassler of Detroit rate the best of those who play regularly.

Second Baseman Riggs Stephenson of the Cleveland Indians has a batting average above Blue or Bassler, but just at present he is benched to allow veteran Bill Wambsganss to return to duty. On any other club Stephenson would be a regular.

Complete list of rookies retained in National League follows:

Zbyszko Getting Stronger

Stanislaus Zbyszko, heavyweight wrestling champion, stands out as the modern Sampson.

His measurements are: Chest, 51 inches; height, 5 feet 9 inches; waist, 39 inches; biceps, 20 1-2 inches; thigh, 28 inches, forearm, 11 1-2 inches; calf.

He realized his life's dream by winning the world's championship at the age of 45.

That isn't so amazing. Strength increases with age up to a certain point in life. That point is above the 45-year mark for athletes who take care of themselves and are in constant training.

Give Us Time

When the last putt was holed at the St. Andrews course, slotted clubs became automatically banned from competition, acording to the new rules of the Royal and Ancient gold association.

That means thousands of clubs go to the scrap pile.

In America more time will be given golfers to make the change. Slotted clubs will be permitted for another year, and perhaps always.

Barring these freak clubs may be for the good of the game. But no less than a full year's notice should be given before putting such a rule into effect. It is costly to players.

Can't Come Back

Walter Johnson, famed fireball pitcher of the American League for 14 glorious years, has been trying to come back.

"I never had a sore arm in my life until after the no-hit, no-run game I pitched against Boston last year. It was not the game that caused it. I took cold in the muscle. It got hard and knotted and pained a lot," says Johnson, explaining the first trouble his pitching arm ever gave him.

If Walter's arm was in 1913 form, the Senators would come close to walking into the pennant this year.

But his wonderful arm will never come back. He is too old.

Greatest Trainer

Pat Moran is one of the most human and successful trainers of ball players in the big leagues.

Whether he climbs the Reds any higher in the race or not, he has every player in condition.

His rules—simple but effective—are: no liquor, plenty of sleep, bed before 12, moderate eating, no gambling, the cultivation of a proper frame of mind, and exercise (meaning morning practice).

Gold Brick

Doping a running horse by the purchase price doesn't pay percentages.

A few weeks ago two promising runners changed hands.

Sam Hildreth, trainer of the Rancocas stables, paid $25,000 for Knobbie and $115,000 for Playfellow.

Both horses have raced twice. Knobbie won his two starts. Playfellow, who cost Hildreth nearly four times as much, lost his.

The colts were bought with an idea they would develop, of course. Playfellow may yet be worth his price. But to date he is a gold brick.

Watching The Scoreboard

Wednesday's hero—Roger Peckinpaugh hit two homers. The first helped the Yanks beat the Red Sox, 8 to 5, in the first of a double bill, and the second won the game in the tenth inning, 5 to 3.

Ruth got his twenty-eighth and Menosky also hit one.

—o—

Four hits in a row in the twelfth inning gave the Browns a four to three win over the White Sox. Williams hit his twelfth homer.

Lefty Cooper had the better of Cheeves and the Pirates beat the Cubs, 2 to 1.

—o—

The Indians got 17 hits off three of Ty Cobb's pitchers and won, 9 to 6.

—o—

Heilman got one, a triple.

—o—

Young Miljus won his second game of the season for the Robins, beating the Phils, 9 to 2. It was his second start.

—o—

Harris held the senators safe all the way and the Athletics won 5 to 1. Harris was helped by five fast double plays.

—o—

The Giants could not do a thing with Joe Oechger and the Braves won, 3 to 2.

In Colorado Mountains

Elmer Rehbein, who went to Colorado a month ago for his health, has written home that he is taking a two weeks' auto trip through the mountains of that state. He had been in Colorado only a few days when the opportunity came to him to make the trip by sharing the expense and he did no lose any time in taking advantage of it. The day following the date of the letter he expected to be among the snow capped mountains of that western state.

PICK 2 RIVERVIEW MEN FOR BIG MATCH

Wisconsin Team Will Meet Upper Peninsula Golf Association in August.

Riverview Country club will be represented by some of its best players at the annual interstate match between the Northeastern Wisconsin Golf association, of which it is a member, and the Upper Peninsula Golf association. The match is to take place August 1 at the Pine Grove Country club, Iron Mountain, Mich.

Teams for each association will consist of 18 men, two picked from each club. A more representative showing thus becomes possible. There will be matched play, with the count three to a man. Last year the event was played at the Blue Mound Country club, Milwaukee, and was won by the upper peninsula association.

Arrangements also have been made by the committee for a 36-hole exhibition match to be played Saturday, July 30, between Abe Mitchell and George Duncan, both of England. Duncan is considered one of the greatest living English professionals. Another match is to be played there the same day between Harry Flora, Houghton, Mich., and Bim Lovekin, Green Bay.

Orbitone Winners Announced Next Thursday

The $300.00 Orbitone contest closed June 30, at 6 o'clock. The winners of the six prizes will be announced next Thursday and checks will be mailed during the coming week.

Several thousand slogans have been received and it will take some time to make final decisions.

This contest has shown that women are naturally interested in any preparation which will add beauty.

More than 10,000 jars of Orbitone and 7,000 bottles of Orlaco have been sold in Wisconsin alone in the past three months. Orbitone is a real beautifier. It really grows brows and lashes. Being made in three shades, brown, light and dark, two purposes are answered; for, in addition to growing beautiful brows and lashes, the dark and the brown instantly darken brow and lash.

Orlaco is the original eye sparkler. A few drops in the eyes make them sparkle like jewels. Orlaco is also an excellent eye tonic; there is nothing better for weak, sore, watery, itching, tired, over-worked eyes.

Both of these preparations are for sale by J. E. Voigt and at well stocked drug and department stores everywhere. Price 50 cents each.

RICHTER BACK ON HILL FOR MENASHA

Hurler Given Chance by Milwaukee Brewers Rejoins Twin City Team.

Richter of Menasha, who was snapped up by the Milwaukee Brewers after he hurled a wonderfully pretty game of ball at Kaukauna June 19 and was then discarded because he failed to measure up to American association requirements, will be back on his old stand when Menasha invades Brandt park July 4, according to word received here Wednesday afternoon.

Richter is not at all dismayed, according to reports, by his release from the Brewer outfit. Even the Brewers admit the lad has good stuff in him and will doubtless make good after he is a little older in the game. Noel will collaborate with Richter on Monday, it is believed, especially if at any time things look black for the visitors.

Mike Murphy of the Brandts, as usual isn't saying anything. He will have his men out at the park Thursday night again for the second exercise of the week. After that the team will lay low unil its tilt with Kaukauna Sunday afternoon. There will be no changes in Appleton's lineup.

Here are the teams:

Menasha		Appleton
Bixby	cf	Durain
Mace	2b	Beyer
Sheleski	ss	Spies
Delmore	c	Shott
Zelenski	1b	Woods
Weisgerber	lf	Priebe
Renz	rf	Murphy
Noel-Richter	p	Schultz
	3b	Mudloff

JACK IS HAPPY AS HE ENDS TRAINING

Atlantic City, N. J.—Jack Dempsey is through training and he is glad of it. The world's champion will do his last work Thursday when he punches the bag for two rounds and takes a long walk on the road.

Dempsey and his household will move Friday to Jersey City. His means of transportation and his destination at the scene of the battle are being kept secret by Manager Kearns. It is understood that he will spend the eve of the contest in a private home near the stadium and will see no one.

The champion looked to be just how he said he felt—in the finest condition. His trainers pronounced him in better condition than he was two years ago when he won the title from Jess Willard. He is mentally fit also.

No more public exhibitions will be given at Airport. He will not be seen again in the ring until Saturday afternoon when he climbs through the ropes in Tex Rickard's stadium.

NEED MORE THAN WEIGHT AND PUNCH

Jeffries Thinks Carpentier's Speed Will Offset Dempsey's Advantages.

BY JAMES J. JEFFRIES,
Former Heavyweight Champ

In a previous reference to the Carpentier-Dempsey fight, I based my opinion that Carpentier would give Dempsey a hard battle on "dope" gained from my own experience in the ring. I referred to the fact that Jim Corbett stayed with me 3 rounds the first time we fought and that ring critics' opinion was that Jim would have taken the decision had I not stopped him a couple of rounds before the schedule was over.

I have a great respect for clever men, especially when they are as heavy as Carpentier and when experts agree that the Frenchman is fast as lightning.

I do not wish to cast any disparity upon Jess Willard, Brennan or any of the boys whom Dempsey has whipped. I'm willing to leave it to any man of expert ring knowledge just how these fighters stand up when the name of Fitz is mentioned.

Dempsey may outweigh Carpentier 20 pounds, but his 20 pounds doesn't make so much difference when men have passed the 170-pound mark. I outweighed Fitz and Corbett and others, but I know what it means to take a beating, for a good many rounds at least, from lighter men.

I don't know of a fast man that Dempsey has met—fast in the sense that Carpentier, Choynski, Fitz or McCoy were. They say Dempsey has a terrific punch. A punch is as good as the place it lands. That's all. It's not good judgment at this time to say that Dempsey can land in the right spot.

(Tomorrow Jeffries tells why Carpentier may figure stronger in the Dempsey fight than is expected.)

JAPS ARE SILENT UNDER ABUSE FROM AMERICAN JINGOES

Yellow People Retain Their Composure Despite American Insults.

BY CHARLES EDWARD RUSSELL

Copyright, 1921, by Post Pub. Co.

Toledo — In general I am not very keen for the Japanese, but there is one respect about which we shall have to hand it to them. They keep their heads pretty well. Perhaps it is native stolidity or racial stoicism or something else; anyway, they don't blow up easily.

I don't know that we do as well. Take this matter about which we are now making faces over the fence at the brownish children of the Sun Goddess, and put the case the other way, both to see how it looks and to compare behaviors.

Suppose, then, Japan had passed a law that excluded Americans from some privilege all other foreigns in Japan enjoyed. Let us say, a law forbidding Americans to engage in the tea business or to buy silks.

It is true, isn't it? that the outcry we should make would echo to the tingling stars and beyond. Wow! but we should be mad. Some of us in our most reasonable hours would demand that Yokohama should be shelled tomorrow. To give his passports to the Japanese ambassador would be the mildest thing others could consider. Prudent Japanese would be advised to retire by way of Winnepeg. There are, of course, places in the country and many of them where Japanese lives and persons would be perfectly respected, but I shouldn't want to be a Japanese traveling on a railroad train in some regions I know of. He'd be lucky if he came out with a skinfull of whole bones.

That kind of discriminatory law has been passed here against the Japanese and they don't want to chew up any scenery or beat up any person about it.

They do not even talk about retaliation in case there is any more aggression, but I guess that will come without much talking.

The philosophical and the reflective among them do not now blame the Americans; they blame the trouble makers that start derogatory stories and the press that reprints them.

One of these seasoned political philosophers who is a joy to meet in any country is Mr. Hanihara, Vice Minister of Foreign Affairs and a good deal of an American himself, for he was a long time resident of Washington.

"What is your favorite indoor sport?" was his way of greeting me when I came into his office a few days ago. We had met before and ceremony had done its stunt and departed. I said I thought it was reading about the pacification of Ulster and Sinn Fein.

"Mine," said he, "is contemplating the justly celebrated picture entitled 'Japan About to Eat Up the World' as drawn by some of the gifted artists that have undertaken this sort of thing."

I said that I thought myself there had been some choice grand prize work along that line. He said that if these word painters knew the actual facts about Japan he doubted if they would be able to get away with their hair-lifting and blood-curdling delineations. If they had no more than an idea of the troubles that Japan is now going through they would laugh at their own imaginations.

"They always draw us as going about like a footpad looking for land we can snatch like a purse from some unwary or unable nation. There was never anything so preposterous. To any one who may wish to know the truth, there is one sure key to the situation. Let such a one always remember that Japan has not a territorial ambition. No matter what may be the misrepresentations about this, Japan has not a territorial ambition. We have no desire to encroach upon the territory of any other nation whatsoever; no such desire, no such purpose. What we do want and all we want is to secure our economic existence, and this we can do without in any way threatening the security of any other nation in this world. If that fact could be understood by western peoples what an immense amount of misconception about Japan would be swept away!

"Next, we know that we can secure our economic existence only by developing our home industries, by promoting our foreign trade and friendships, but never by antagonizing other peoples. That seems simple and obvious enough, but you must have noticed that it is entirely disregarded by the critics of Japan."

I said that if I knew anything about the Japanese press there were not lacking in my friend's country an element of jingoes and some that seemed to like the music of the war drum.

"Why, of course," says he, "every nation has them. Japan with the rest. But they do not mould nor in any way affect Japan's national policy—not in the slightest degree. In no other country are the utterances of a few extremists or alarmists taken to express the real attitude of the nation and I do not think it should be so with Japan. The truth is we are most strangely and persistently maligned. Did you ever see that list of scare stories that George Kennan collected and exposed a few years ago. Twenty-one of them, all most alarming, all widely circulated in the United States, all absolutely untrue. They range from the Magdalena Bay scare to the story about Japanese spies on the Panama canal, waiting for a chance to blow it up. The imaginative ingenuity of these stories is amazing but not so amazing as the fact that they are believed without the least investigation."

I referred to the belief universal among the Americans in the Philippines that Japan would seize the islands as soon as the Americans should withdraw.

"Wild stories!" said Mr. Hanihari. "I can most positively and emphatically declare to you that Japan has no aggressive designs on the Philippines, latent, covert, open, deferred, up its sleeve or otherwise. This story is of a piece with the rest. The Japanese policy is neighborliness, good will and trade. Do you think we are a nation of lunatics that we want to go about provoking the rows that would kill the foreign commerce by which we live?"

"Well," I said, "there is Korea. Many persons think you have been intolerably brutal to the Koreans."

"Korea," says he. "Well, anybody who goes there can see we have been of immense benefit to the Koreans. We have transformed their country for them and made it prosperous and inhabitable. There may have been errors of commission and omission, as in the colonies of other countries, but to err is human and through it all we have tried to do our best. If anyone can show us where we can do better we shall listen to the advice and be thankful for it. But vituperation gets nowhere."

I suggested that I should like to hear something about the present relations between the United States and Japan and the chance of trouble there. He said:

"If there is any cloud between these people it is due to false reports and misrepresentation and the greatest need of the moment is to bring about a better understanding between America and Japan, for which all good people on both sides should do their utmost. Statesmen, politicians, business men, army and navy men, the press—all thinking Japanese simply want to live on the best of terms with America. I can categorically declare that all the charges on which Japan is held up as a menace to the world are absolutely groundless, imaginery and chimerical. I wish we could get that home as the real message of the real Japan to the real America."

LITTLE CHANCE OF FARMERS AND UNION LABORERS UNITING

Taft Believes Interests of Two Classes Very Often Are Conflicting.

BY WILLIAM H. TAFT.

Copyright, 1921, by Public Ledger.

Philadelphia—Mr. Gompers proposal in the present convention of the American Federation of Labor that union labor and the farmer should unite to protect themselves against the rapacity of the capitalistic class is not clear and is not any nearer consummation than when proposed before.

Occasionally the self-interests of unions and farmers, as each class understands them, do lead to common action in respect to legislation and voting at an election; but more frequently their interests clash.

The radical socialistic tendencies of the Non-Partisan league have led leaders of that organization of farmers to seek combination with the more radical socialistic element of organized labor and with the I. W. W. Thus, in North Dakota in the last primary fight over the governorship in that state, Mr. Frazer was saved by the radical labor union vote of railroad workers. That same league has worked together with the radical labor unions in Minnesota and the great cities of that state, though fortunately the combination was beaten in the last Republican primary for governor.

It is satisfactory to observe, too, that Van Lear, the Socialist leader of Minneapolis, representing the union of labor and the Non-Partisan league was badly beaten a few days ago, in an election in which the conservative newspapers and independent voters won a great victory. In Kansas, however, which is full of successful farmers, as North Dakota is not, the antagonism of the farmers to the excesses of organized labor is marked. But for this, Governor Allen would have found it impossible to establish his industrial machinery for compulsory arbitration and to win the support by public opinion of the drastic procedure of his courts for hearing, deciding and stopping disputes likely to close down industries upon the continuance of which the life and comfort of the community depend.

One reason for the complete power of organized labor in Great Britain is that there are not farmers enough there to offset the labor vote. One reason why the leaders of union labor in this country have never thought it wise or expedient to attempt to engage their men in politics as a separate political party is that in pressing their own interests they would be almost certain to neutralize their influence by arousing great opposition among the farmers.

Of course, there are farmers and farmers. A farmer whose farm is in that doubtful belt where a good crop is an exception and who is dependent on exceptionally high prices to make his farming pay is in a hopeless state of complaint with things as they are and is an admirable recruit for any party which is radical in its program: Debs, Townley, Howatt and the I. W. W. can lead such members of the agricultural craft without difficulty. But a farmer who makes a real living out of his farm is in his way a capitalist. He is interested in securing labor at reasonable prices, because what he has to pay in wages is an important factor in the cost to him of what he has to sell. When he is told that railway rates for his wheat and corn have to be raised because of the high wages that railway brotherhoods have exacted from the railroads, his views of the power of organized labor are not altogether sympathetic. Of course, the tenant farmer is not likely to be quite so conservative as the man who owns and runs his farm. Yet he, too, is affected injuriously by too high wages and rates.

In the conflict of interest between groups of our people, the safety of the republic lies in a sound public opinion, the resultant not alone of the views of the contending factions, but of other groups not selfishly interested in the particular issue, whose views are impartial and look only to the general good.

Mr. Gompers' suggestion that organized labor and the farmers permanently united against the rest of the country is fortunately impracticable. Great economic and political issues in this country will not be settled that way.

DAVIS IN APPEAL FOR FRATERNALISM SPIRIT

By United Press Leased Wire

Toledo — Appealing for a spirit of fraternalism that will bind the people of the United States in closer harmony and erase the depression of the times, James J. Davis, director general of the Loyal Order of Moose, and secretary of labor in the Harding cabinet made the keynote speech of the international convention of the order at Wednesday's session of the convention.

"The chief policy I have always uppermost in mind for the department of labor is the everlasting promotion of fraternalism in the industrial world and the spreading of good feeling between employer, employe and the public," he said.

Campbell declared the death was accidental.

FORD PLANNING TO BUY UNCLE SAM'S WHITE ELEPHANT

$100,000,000 Nitrate Plant at Muscle Shoals May Go to Auto Maker.

By Albert Apple

Special to Post-Crescent

Detroit—Henry Ford is preparing to complete the economic cycle of his industrial empire by buying the government's $100,000,000 nitrate plant at Muscle Shoals, Ala.

This plan is still incomplete and idle, lacking an appropriation of $15,000,000 to finish it and put it in operation.

Fords plans to transform this white elephant into a paying proposition in the same way in which his wizardry changed the D., T. & I. railroad from a $200,000 loser to a money-maker.

Ford's first step in setting up an independent industrial empire was to establish his own "parts" factories here for his auto and tractor plants. His second step was to purchase outright his sources of raw materials. His third step was to buy the D., T. & I. railroad to transport much of these materials to his factories.

Now he is making his fourth step—negotiating for the purchase of the great nitrate plant. Why? To provide cheaper nitrates for farm fertilizer; thus to improve the farms and increase the farm market for tractors and automobiles.

Ford may buy more railroads later on.

Only July 1, when other railroads are to cut wages of unskilled labor 12 per cent, Ford will raise wages an average of 40 per cent on his railroad, establishing a minimum wage of $6 a day.

Soon Ford's River Rouge plant will begin making locomotives of a new type that he expects to cut in half the cost of motive power. These locomotives will be much lighter than those now in general use.

In the last three months, the D., T. & I. has cut its running time 35 per cent on freight shipments. Freight trains will soon be put on the schedule basis, same as passenger trains, so that a shipper will know the exact hour a shipment will be delivered.

Beginning July 1, Ford's railroad employes will have every Sunday off. No passenger or freight trains will be run in the D., T. & I. on Sunday's except milk trains. Ford hopes eventually to work out some method so that even milk trains will cease operating on Sunday.

INTERNATIONAL BANK IS HITCHCOCK'S PLAN

Washington.—A bill creating "the bank of nations" with a capital of $2,400,000,000 was introduced in the senate Wednesday by Senator Hitchcock, Nebraska.

This international bank would be the fiscal agent of the United States and other governments admitted as stockholders.

Bonds of solvent governments would be taken in payment for stock in the bank.

MUST BE GOOD HUBBY FOR 7 YEARS OR GO TO JAIL

By United Press Leased Wire

Minneapolis, Minn. — Guiseppe Fabbrini will be a good husband for seven years, or go to jail.

Judge Holyneaux, after acknowledging the marriage of Fabbrini and a violin pupil he has wronged, told the musician he would have to love, honor and cherish the girl and care for her as a husband should for seven years.

If the probation officer finds that the relationship is unsuccessful, Fabbrini must go to jail.

MRS. KABER TO TELL LIFE STORY ON WITNESS STAND

By United Press Leased Wire.

Cleveland, O.—Announcement that Mrs. Eva Katherine Kaber will take the stand in her own defense was made Thursday by her attorney, Francis W. Poulson.

Mrs. Kaber will tell from the witness stand the story of what she claims was her life with murdered Daniel F. Kaber, wealthy Lakewood, O., publisher. It is by this means that the widow, charged with the murder of her wealthy husband, hopes to prove that she was driven to insanity.

The trial of Mrs. Kaber will not be resumed until next Thursday. This is because defense counsel insisted that they be given the full legal time of three days to examine the 100 names that are on the new jury venire. The first venire was exhausted at Wednesday's session with only nine jurors tentatively seated in the jury box. Five of these were men and the other four women.

BODY RECOVERED FROM WOLF RIVER

Exploding dynamite charges in the bed of the Wolf river near the bridge north of Hortonville Wednesday afternoon was the means of recovering the body of Otto Lemke who drowned Tuesday evening while swimming with companions. The body was recovered near the place it went down.

Before resorting to the use of dynamite, the river bed had been dragged repeatedly. It was believed the body had become lodged in snags on the river bottom.

The youth is survived by his parents, one brother and two sisters. The funeral will be held from the home in the town of Liberty Saturday afternoon.

Keller Reelected

Paul G. W. Keller, formerly principal of Appleton high school, has been reelected principal of the high school at Waukegan, Ill., at a salary of $5,-000 a year, a substantial increase over last year. An addition is being built to the high school building.

BEG PARDON

The report in Monday's issue of the Post-Crescent announcing the engagement of Miss Elsie Rutz to Richard Jentz was untrue.

Through a typographical error the price paid Edward Mueller by the government for a Holstein cow was given as $330. The correct price should have been $530, which is considered a top figure on the present market.
